

Your Wedding....

WWW.VINEGAR&BROWN.COM

Welcome

Congratulations on your engagement and thank you for considering me to be your wedding photographer! It would be an honour to be able to join you on such a significant day in your lives. I'm sure you are really looking forward to your wedding.

Your photographs will be the permanent record of this special occasion, outlasting almost all other elements of the day, so I would be honoured if you entrusted this responsibility to me.

This guide is to help ensure you get the most out of your wedding photography experience. As one of the only suppliers who will be with you most of the day, I hope to help you feel prepared, informed and reassured about what to expect so that you'll be able to relax and enjoy your wedding day.

So, hello friends! I'm Jason and I'm really excited about your wedding!

Jason Baughan

Your Photographer

Hello...

When you look back at the photos, you will enjoy remembering not only how your day looked but also how it felt.

I know you want to capture natural moments and genuine expressions, which fits so well with my unobtrusive and relaxed approach.

Your photographs will preserve the story of your day and keep the magic of your wedding alive!

With Love,
Jason

AS EASY AS

1

Here's a handy reminder of my contact details so we can stay in touch. We might need to ask each other questions or check in with some updates.

2

We would arrange to send you a wedding questionnaire about 2 weeks prior to the big day, when your planning is confirmed. We would then call you a week before to discuss your itinerary in finer detail so you'll feel confident about how we'll weave photography into your day.

3

After the day, I would set to work on editing your images and create a beautiful collection for your online gallery. This usually takes about 2 weeks but you may like to see a few sneak peeks on social media in the meantime.

Incredible

“ Jason was incredible, was booked super short notice due to covid but still made the lead up amazing and supportive. Jason involved us in what type of photos and shots we wanted as well as the edit style. On the day he was great at capturing everything we asked for. Due to covid it wasn't the traditional timelines of a wedding and Jason very quickly adapted to make sure to capture all the candid special moments as well as the requested group shots. Jason was super friendly and made everyone feel at ease, and relaxed! All my guests commented how amazing he was. The turnaround time for getting the photos was much quicker than expected but by no means rushed. The quality of the photos show Jason really cares about his work, as well as the clients wishes on the edit style. The photos have come out spectacular. Thanks for all your help!

Preparing...

Here are some really useful questions to think about ahead of our meeting:

Which aspects of your day are the most significant for you?

Who can you designate to help me identify people for any group shots you may wish to have?

Are there any specific, sentimental shots you'd like me to capture which I might not know about?

Are there any particular family dynamics you'd like me to be aware of?

What's the most important image on your wish list?

How do you feel in front of the camera?

These images will only ever increase in value as the years pass. They will reflect the time, effort and love that went into planning your perfect day. One day, they may be the most precious thing you own from your wedding.

If you love actually holding precious images in your hands, then you'll love having an album to tell your whole story or prints to display and share with your family and friends. If you're an onscreen type of person, then you'll love having a USB with digital images, to view, upload and share online!

THINGS YOU MIGHT BE THINKING

We're nervous about posing for the camera.

It can be such a daunting prospect being the centre of attention and anticipating to have to 'perform' for the camera. Don't worry, I won't just expect you to stand there and pose. I aim to create genuine, natural images but with a little gentle direction to help you feel that you're not just left on your own.

It might feel awkward having a camera around.

I understand the anxiety of inviting someone to photograph you on a significant and, at times, a pretty intimate day, so I try to capture images as unobtrusively and sensitively as possible. I use long lenses, which means I don't have to get up close and personal all the time and I use a quiet mode on my camera to minimise the distraction.

Hopefully, you'll find I'm friendly and approachable and that I blend in well enough for you to forget I'm even there at all!

It might rain.

You'll likely be so wrapped up in enjoying your day, it'll not be as big an issue as you imagined. We may be able to grab our moment to pop out and get some outside shots but if not, we'll make use of the indoors!

amazing work

“Hey Jason! Just wanted to message you and say how much we LOVE all the pics! You do amazing work! We are so pleased! Finally got to look at all the pics with the family, and it was so much fun to relive the day! Love how you even made it look sunny in some of those castle ones when it really wasn't lol! But yah, thank you, and you're brilliant”

ENGAGEMENT SESSION

How it works

An engagement session, also called a pre-wedding shoot is a perfect way to capture that glow and to express yourselves as a couple.

This type of photoshoot will help you feel more prepared for your big day by giving you a chance to get comfortable in front of the camera. It'll also give us a chance to get to know each other so you feel at ease with me as your photographer.

I'm happy to give you as little or as much direction as you would like for poses and ideas.

You could use your engagement photographs to create 'Save The Dates' or even a signing book for your guests to write their well wishes to you on your wedding day!

To the world you are one person but to one person you are the world.

PRE-WEDDING IMAGES

Why have an engagement shoot?

Wondering why you'd bother?

Here are five top reasons to book that engagement session or pre-wedding shoot:

1. It'll make you feel more comfortable on your actual wedding day. I'll be with you for the majority of the big day, capturing really personal and emotional moments. An engagement shoot helps to break the ice and feel comfortable about how we'll be working together on the day.
2. It'll give you a better sense of what to expect from your images. I'll be able to learn about you and how you feel you look best in photos in advance of your wedding day.
3. Combine your session with your hair and make-up trial so that you can see if you like how it feels for a few hours and also how it actually photographs. This will give you a chance to change it before the big day if you'd like to.
4. You'll have a decent set of photos to make use of and get creative with. Think: personalised 'save-the-dates', decor for your table centre pieces, or even an album for your guest signing book at your wedding reception.
5. Just for fun! Spend some time with your partner doing something fun and/or romantic. Enjoy the relaxed pace of the shoot (often in contrast to your wedding day) and use it as a chance to really express who you are as a couple, without the frills, pressure and desire to party at your wedding!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

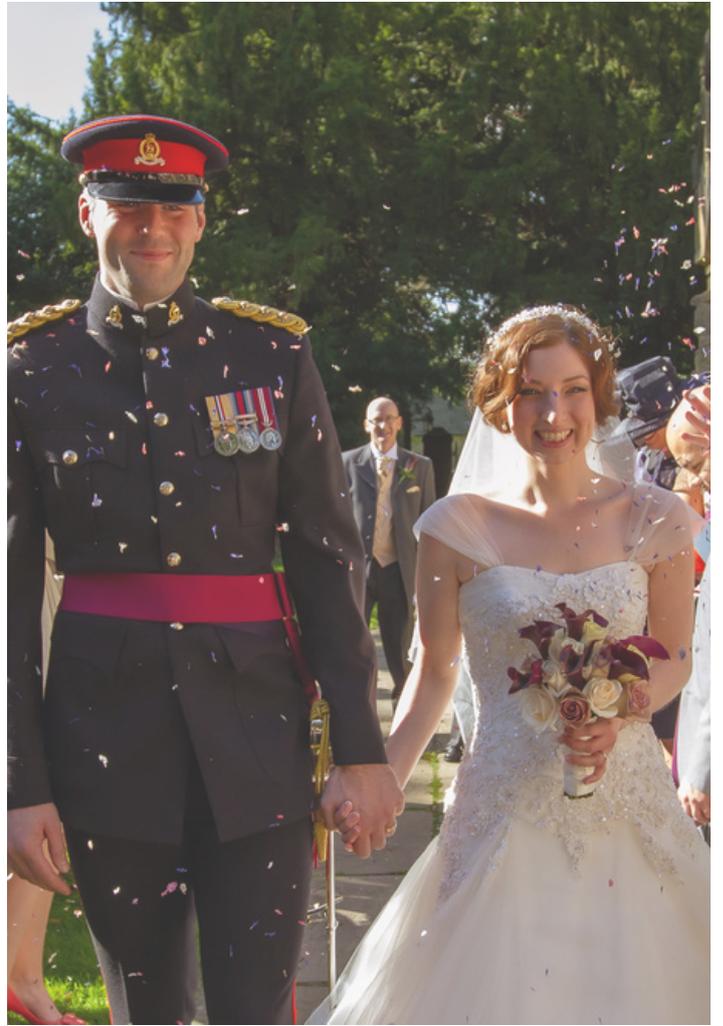

What happens if your equipment breaks?

It is a fact of life that technology can sometimes run into some issues. However, I have enough equipment to bring as a back-up on the day. My gear is well maintained so I have taken every step I can to prevent problems and protect your images.

I also shoot onto dual cards simultaneously, which ensures multiple copies of each image.

What if you can't attend our wedding?

I've never yet not been able to attend a wedding but, as with any supplier, it is possible that an illness or emergency could prevent me from attending your wedding. In this unlikely event, I will try to find a similar style replacement from my network. If this is not possible, then the final, worst and last case scenario is that I will refund the money you have paid me.

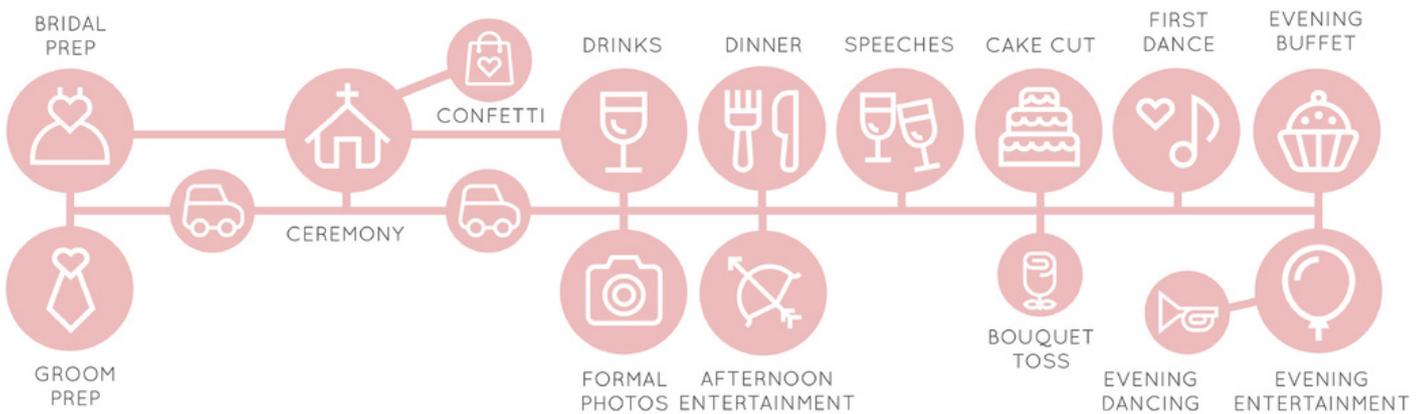

THE BIG DAY

What to expect

Each wedding is unique but there are usually familiar elements which I'll be capturing too, so you can trust that I know what to look for and how to best represent your day in images.

Below is a timeline for a typical wedding day which may be useful to you in your planning.

Your family and friends offer a valuable perspective on your day so it's fine for them to take photos too! My only request is to have you to myself for your couple shots, though your official videographer is welcome to join us. We'll have limited time together so it'll be a good opportunity to enjoy a break from the crowd and have some portraits taken that you'll be the first to see!

If you're having a church wedding, the vicar or priest will likely have their own rules about guests' photography.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Why have a second photographer?

To help ensure the day's smooth-running, for example, by helping to rally your guests for any group shots you may wish to have. They'll also maximise the coverage of your day by providing a different perspective, priority or angle. You'll love their complementary images, which are personally edited by me so they'll work together seamlessly.

Do you edit and retouch the images?

I know you want you to see yourself looking your best in the photos. I edit and retouch with care and respect.

Initially getting this right in-camera with the most flattering angles and lighting is key but if you get a temporary blemish on the day, I'll remove it! Don't worry, I avoid obvious, heavily-edited changes.

The process of editing essentially involves making an appropriate artistic judgement on each photo and aiming for a cohesive collection. This may mean adjustments to the exposure and crop or a conversion to black and white, for example. Each image is individually edited to reflect my light and airy style. You'll receive perfectly-finished digital images.

You can pay for additional retouching if you wish.

YOUR IMAGES

You'll receive your images in an online gallery around 2 weeks after your wedding. This will be safely password-protected so you can choose who to share it with.

Following that, you'll receive a USB so you'll have a permanent copy of your digital images. (Usually around 600 for a half day and 800 for a full day). These will be non-watermarked and suitable for any personal use purpose such as printing, sharing online or for creating photo products. Enjoy!

MILNEBURN & BROWN
CAPTURING THE LITTLE MOMENTS
PHOTOGRAPHY

made our day perfect

Finding the right photographer to cover our wedding day was extremely important to us. Friends of ours had had an awful experience with their wedding photographer and advised us to choose wisely and be careful. We scouted the internet to find a style we liked. As soon as we saw Vinegar & Brown photo we knew this was exactly what we wanted. The photos literally gave me butterflies, the little moments captured and natural style was just perfect. Upon meeting Jason we immediately felt relaxed in his company, he has a calm, warm and friendly persona that makes you feel instantly at ease. I am not a fan of having my photo taken so being relaxed with our photographer was very important to me. My partner also isn't a fan of having photos taken. All I can say is wow Jason did not disappoint us. All our guests commented on how friendly and approachable our photographer was. He documented our day perfectly without being intrusive. He blended into our day like one of the guests! We felt like we had known him for years. Our photos are more than we could ever have imagined. We never knew we could look so good!!! It's amazing how wonderful you can be caught naturally when you have someone who is clearly very talented at what he does photographing your wedding. I can quite honestly say Jason was everything we hoped he would be. We can not recommend him enough! Thank you Jason, you are truly wonderful x

What will you do with our photos after the wedding?

You've probably made some of your decisions on wedding suppliers by browsing images of their work. I imagine my portfolio was helpful to you in deciding that I was the right photographer for you. For the benefit of future couples who might like to see my work, I politely ask that couples consent to my usage of a selection of their images on my website. We can discuss any other relevant permissions such as of children and sensitive locations and so forth. I appreciate that opinions about sharing on social media are often more divided and you can let me know you feel about this at our pre-wedding meeting.

Thank you.
